JOB DESCRIPTION – General Internship

The American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan is seeking undergraduate interns for the 2018 summer season. The ACLU is one of the nation's premiere defenders of civil rights and civil liberties. The ACLU's core program areas include focuses on: First Amendment rights, equality rights, privacy, due process, and racial justice.

We are seeking students from a wide range of disciplines, including public policy, communications, political science, computer science, social work, and law. An internship with the ACLU provides students with a unique opportunity to work in our legal program, legislative program, communications program and development program. Specific projects this year include general legal intake, specific issues that arise in the state legislature, drafting brochures/flyers, and helping to organize our annual dinner.

The ideal intern has a general familiarity with the American Civil Liberties Union, and general knowledge about the history of civil rights and constitutional law. To learn more about some of our ongoing projects, visit www.aclumich.org.

Qualifications:

- Strong organizational, writing, and communication skills
- Commitment to civil liberties and civil rights
- Familiarity with computer databases
- Dependable

Credit/Fellowship:

Most academic programs allow students to earn credit hours for participation in an ACLU internship during the school year or the summer. Unfortunately, the ACLU does not have budgetary resources to provide monetary compensation to interns.

Applications:

To apply, submit your resume, a letter of interest including availability, and a writing sample (by email or regular mail) to:
